FRANK HEARING RESUMED

Demurrers Filed by State and Arguments by Counsel for Detense.

Atlanta, Ga., June 5.—Filing of demurrers by the State and arguments by counsel for the defense marked the hearing here to-day on the motion to amult the verdict of guilty and sentence of death returned in the case of Leo M. Frank, pencil factory superintendent, charged with killing Mary Phagan, the fourteen-year-old factory girl.

Annulment of the verdict is asked on the ground that the constitutional rights of the defendant were violated when he was allowed to be absent from the courtroom when the verdict was returned. Representations were made to Judge L. S. Roan, presiding at the trial, that a demonstration against the defendant was possible if a verdict of acquittal was returned caused the action to be taken.

When the hearing was begun to-day before Superior Judge Benjamin H. Hill, two demurrers were filed by Solicitor-General Hugh M. Dorsey, chief of the State's legal forces. One contended that there was no defect in the court record. The other dealt chiefly with the allegation that it was impossible for Frank to have a fair trial on acount of the state of public feeling at the time.

Reading of the demurrers and citations of authorities by Solicitor-General Dorsey occupied the morning session. The session this afternoon was devoted to arguments by Frank's council against the demurrers in which various court decisions on the rights of accused were cited.

The hearing will be continued to-morrow.

TRADE COMMISSION BILL FIRST MEASURE ON PROGRAM The Covington Trade Commission bill, the first measure on the administration antitrust program, as considered in the House would create a commission with broad inquisitorial powers over corporations engaged in interstate commerce. The bill would turn over to a commission of three members the power now held by the Bureau of Corporations in the Department of Commerce, and confer on the commission additional powers.

accordance with the law. When the commission finds information as to any "anfair competition or practice in commerce, not necessarily constituting a violation of the law," it is called upon to report to the President and ald him in making recommendations to Congress for remedial legislation.

The bill would authorize the commission to take charge of cases in which the courts have decided a complainant entitled to relief under the antitrust laws, and recommend "an appropriate form of decree to the court," it would also empower the commission, on its own initiative or at the request of the Attorney-General, to investigate the manner in which decrees under the antitrust laws have been carried out. A report on such investigations would be submitted to the Attorney-General for action.

The commission is given wide authority to make public all information recured in the course of its investigations, and is called upon to submit a report to Congress on or before the first of December of each year. This report would include such information as the commission has secured and such recommendations as to additional legislation for the regulation of corporations in commerce. Chauffeur Admits Highwaymen Es-caped in His Car. [Special to The Times-Dispatch.]

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]

New York, June 5.—Fred Kelly, a chauffeur, is locked up at police headquarters, charged with having been the driver of the car in which two highwaymen escaped shortly before noon to-day, after having beaten and robbed employes of the American Can Company of $2,700. Kelly offered an alibi to the police, but late to-night he made a full confession to Deputy Police Commissioner Rubin and Inspector Faurot.

Kelly, succumbing to seven hours of almost constant questioning, declared the crime was planned three weeks ago, since which time the members of the gang have been awaiting a favorable opportunity to carry out the plan. He gave Commissioner Rubin the names of his three associates and their addresses, and at a late hour the commissioner and Inspector Faurot, with a squad of detectives, were out rounding up the gang. Kelly's share in the plot was to furnish the automobile in which the gang made their escape.

At 11:15 o'clock Paymaster Arthur F. Barlow, of the Masury Paint Company, Brooklyn, and Harry Beeh, his assistant, were robbed at pistol's point of a satchel containing $3,000. The thieves escaped in a high power automobile. Those who caught a fleeting glance of the car think it bore a New Jersey Ilcense number. Fifty-five minutes later, John W. Armstrong, cashier of the American Can Company, and Joseph Bonnaviat, a messenger, were knocked down in front of the can factory with blackjacks, and a satchel containing $2,700 was wrenched from them. These thicves also made their escape in a high power car, bearing New York license No. 42,126. It was with this number as a clue that the police at 4:06 o'clock arrested Kelly as he entered the car in front of his mother-in-law's home in the Bronx.
